Aging in Place & Home Safety

Aging in Place

It's very common for a person to envision themselves aging gracefully and living independently in their home, throughout the course of their lifetime.

That's a nice image, but is it realistic?

Would it surprise you to know that people spend more time planning a vacation, than they do planning for their aging?

According to a 2012 AARP Survey, 90% of Americans 65 years of age and older, want to age in their current home and community.

Yet only 15% of these seniors have taken steps any steps, to help prepare themselves or their home for aging.

What most people don't take into account is that as we age, our needs change, and with change come challenges.

February 2019

Don't Become a Statistic

Are you one of the 78% of Americans who are unprepared should a medical emergency strike?

According to the File of Life.org

- 116 million Americans are involved in an accident each year
- 50% of people suffer with chronic illnesses such as high blood pressure, diabetes or asthma
- 58% of all 911 calls involve a senior

DID YOU KNOW?

- 55% of all falls occur in the home
- 40% of those who fall are unable to return to independent living
- Individuals who fall once, are 2-3 times more likely to fall again
- Every 11 seconds a senior is treated in the ER for a fall
- Every 19 minutes a senior dies from a fall
- Every year 1 in 3 seniors have a fall related injury

From Falls Among Older Adults*

IS YOUR HOME SAFE?

According to the U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission, more than 600,000 older Americans are treated each year in the ER, as a result of injuries sustained in their home.

Don't wait for a crisis - take a proactive approach.

Would you be surprised to know that 50% of all home accidents can be prevented through the implementation of 3 simple steps?

1. Home safety audit
2. Home repair of identified issues
3. Home modification as a person's abilities and needs change

HOME SAFETY AUDIT

As a Board Certified Case Manager, one of Linda Ziac's roles in supporting Successful Aging, is to conduct home safety audits.

Components of a Home Safety Audit

1. Meet with the home owners to discuss current areas of concern, challenges that the home owners may be experiencing, as well as the clients' potential evolving needs.
2. Conduct an in-depth tour of the home, in order to identify areas in need of repair, areas that may pose a risk to the home owners, potential areas of concern, as well as areas which may pose a challenge over time as the owners age.
3. Create a written Home Safety Audit Report for the home owners, broken down by each area of the home and outside property, outlining potential areas of concern and why; as well as identifying potential assistive devices and/or modifications that may improve the owners' quality of life.
4. Meet with the home owners to review the Home Safety Audit Report, and discuss a viable action plan moving forward.

A SUCCESSFUL AGING ACTION PLAN

“Aging in Place is the ability to live in one’s own home and community safely, independently, and comfort-ably regardless of age, income, or ability level.”

Successful aging extends beyond physical health; incorporating cognitive function, social support, and satisfying life experiences.

Maintaining Independence While Being Pro-Active

No one looks forward to an unexpected personal or medical situation that catches you off guard; which can be overwhelming, costly, time consuming, and complex.

The time to plan for your aging is now, while you are still healthy, active and able to make decisions on your own.

A personalized “Successful Action Plan”, can help prevent unexpected events from turning into a crisis, which have the potential to negatively impact on your health, safety, independence, and quality of life.

Don’t Wait for a Crisis Plan Now For Your Future

One thing we can all be sure of is we’re aging, and with aging comes challenges.

- Not all problems occur as a crisis, but evolve in a series of warning signs spanning weeks, months, or even years.

- While most seniors are healthy and function at a high level, it's inevitable that as we age, issues will surface related to our independence.
